Software Engineer

About Me

A recent graduate in computer engineering, I am enthusiastic about joining your team. My training as a computer engineer, combined with my professional and personal experiences in this field, has shaped a solid foundation of theoretical and practical knowledge. I am a quick learner, a hard working, curious and eager to discover the challenges faced by financial companies, where IT activities are critical to the business. I am convinced that my technical expertise and my determination to excel in my work make me an ideal candidate for this opportunity.
